The City Meeting

Jewelry Auction Denied By Board—Young Resigns

Liquor licenses were granted to Hotel Rockland, Thordike Hotel, Bay View Hotel, Narragansett Hotel and the Rockland Lodge of Elks by the City Council Monday night. Rockland jewelers, Daniels, Sulka, Morse and Leighton opposed an application made by Sherman C. English of Belfast to hold a public auction at the Manhattan Jewelers from Dec 1 through Dec. 24.

Attorney Alan Bird appeared in behalf of the group and pointed out that inasmuch as those stores which are to remain in business already have heavy investments in their Christmas stocks they should be given consideration and the application denied. The City Council was unanimous in its decision to deny the application following a motion placed by Councilman Bicknell.

The polls will be open from 7 a. m. to 7 p. m. on city election day, Dec 6, according to a motion passed by the Council last night. The resignation of Freeman S. Young from the Board of Assessment Review was not acted upon by the Council. Young was only recently appointed to the board.

The Roberts Tree Service started taking down two elms in front of the Armory on Spring street this morning to make way for the two sets of double doors which will eventually serve the fire department when the building is converted to the Central Fire Station.

Three Candidates File For Council, Four For the School Board

Nomination of candidates for the City Council and School Board officially closed at midnight Saturday. There are four candidates for the two vacancies on the School Board, Dr. Donald E. Haskell, who presented 110 signatures through Albert E. Averill and Myron Nevelson who circulated and certified his papers. C. Maxwell Ames presented 114 signatures certified by City Council Chairman Osgood A. Gilbert. P. Willard Pease, Blaine Merrill and James M. Pease presented and certified 139 signatures in behalf of Blaine P. Merrill's candidacy. Domenic P. Cucinello was credited with 134 names, certified by Mrs. Lena Payson, Mr. Sebastian Luizza and the candidate.

City Council candidates numbered three for the two vacancies. First papers to be filed were those of Carl M. Stilphen with a total of 134 signatures certified by Joseph W. Lamb, Francis D. Orne and Osgood A. Gilbert. James M. Pease was credited with 143 names certified by Blaine P. Merrill, James M. Pease and P. Willard Pease. Charles E. Bicknell, 2d, candidate for reelection, had his papers certified by George E. Wood, John Smith Lowe and Sam Savitt for a total of 123 signatures.

Candidates for offices on either the City Council or School Board must have not less than 100 signatures and no more than 150.

Candidates for the Rockland School District Trustees have until Nov. 22 to file papers. To date, I. Lawton Bray has presented papers with 140 signatures, certified by Ardrey C. Orff, John Smith Lowe and George E. Wood.

LOST ON LOBSTER POINT

Thick Fog Was Undoing Of the Ocean-Going Tug D. T. Sheridan

The ocean going tug D. T. Sheridan, owned by the Sheridan Towing Company of Philadelphia, was lost on Lobster Point on the southeastern tip of Monhegan Island Friday night. Running in heavy fog with a two barge tow, the 110-foot steel craft hit at high tide and drove so far onto the ledges that she is practically out of water at low tide.

Monday, Coast Guard received notification that officials of the firm of Merritt-Chapman & Scott of New York will survey the wreck for possible salvage this week.

Officers of the Merchant Marine Inspection Service, a division of the Coast Guard, were in Rockland on a routine investigation Monday and visited the barge Blanche Sheridan, which was part of the tow and which is now discharging at the docks of the Rockland & Rockport Line Company.

Captain Thomas E. Hayman, Chief Engineer William P. Hayman and seaman Raymond Plu were landed at the Coast Guard Base shortly after 3 p. m. Saturday by the rescue tug Snohomish, in command of Boatswain William Akers. The mate, William Burnham, and three crewmen had been landed at Port Clyde earlier in the day by the Burnt Island lifeboat and had been brought to the Hotel Rockland by a Coast Guard truck. Three of the crew remained aboard the barge, Blanche Sheridan.

Captain Hayman stated that the tug was running at normal cruising speed with the barges Rockport Line Company barge and Blanche Sheridan in tow when the crash came. He said that just as they were to slow down to pick up a buoy, breakers were seen ahead and they were into them before forward motion could be stopped.

The crash came, he said, at almost normal speed, with the 110 foot steel tug ripping her bottom open on the shelf of ledge which makes out from Lobster Point on the Southeast end of Monhegan.

The first blow pierced the engine room on the port side with the surging seas lifting the craft and smashing her down on the rocks until she filled with water and started settling.

The barges were protected by the Captain who whistled them to anchor as soon as he saw the danger ahead. The Rockhaven dropped her anchor, which held. The Blanche Sheridan was not so fortunate and hit the ledges causing leaks which made three feet or more of water in her holds when she arrived in Rockland late that night.

Within a matter of minutes, Capt. Hayman said, he saw the tug was a complete loss and prepared to leave her. The crew escaped in the tug's lifeboat, leaving behind most of her personal effects, clad only in what clothing they could grab before she settled just after the crash. They boarded the Blanche Sheridan, from which they were later taken by Coast Guardsmen. Fortunately there were no personal injuries to any of the crew members.

The master of the tug notified Coast Guard of the incident and Chief Boatswain George Tardiff, commanding officer of the Whitehead Group, dispatched the motor lifeboat from Burnt Island and the rescue tug Snohomish from Rockland.

The Snohomish arrived at the scene about 5:30 a. m., having left Rockland at 1:45 and prepared to take the barges in tow. Heavy swells made the work difficult in the fog shrouded area close into the ledges of Monhegan and in a completely exposed position. It was well into the afternoon before the tow could be started, the

Armistice Day

Thirty years ago today the "Cease Fire" command ended World War I. And on that day we honored those who had fallen in the service of our country. Today, added to that honor roll are those who gave their lives in the second great world conflict. It is not enough this Armistice Day to honor the brave dead of two wars by bowing our heads in prayer. Only by each of us working assiduously to prevent another war—working to build an everlasting Peace—can we pay them deserving tribute.

Football Banquet

Rockland High Gridsters Will Be Honored Thursday Night

Rockland High School's football warriors of 1948 will be honored Thursday night at a football banquet at the High School gym. The football "dads" will do the honors under the capable chairmanship of Charles H. McIntosh.

Bowdoin's capable Coach Combs will be the speaker. He is an authority on all around sports and is assistant coach of football, basketball and baseball at the Brunswick College and was head coach of football during the reconstruction period prior to the return of Adam Walsh. Combs was a stellar half-back for Bowdoin prior to his entry into the Marine Corps in World War II. He was three times wounded in action and was decorated.

Sheridan was taken offshore first as the Rockhaven was anchored in raising the anchor which Coast Guard reports had to later be slipped to free her for the tow to safety.

The tow arrived in Rockland shortly before 7 p. m. The Blanche Sheridan was anchored in a location where if the water in her hold increased she would ground out at low tide to prevent her possibly sinking.

The tug is valued at $100,000 and was built in Brooklyn in 1939. She measures 110 feet in length, is diesel powered, one of the newer craft of the fleet of the Sheridan Towing Company of Philadelphia.

The barges were laden with coal, the Sheridan bound from Norfolk to Rockland and the Rockhaven from Norfolk to Bangor.

The tow had departed from Gloucester, Mass., at 5 a. m. on Friday, bound for Penobscot Bay ports.

Two Men Hospitalized
Motor Car Accidents At Stickney's Corner and Maverick Street

An accident near Stickney Corner Saturday morning sent Elmer Leonard, 21, of Camden to Knox Hospital, after a car which he is said to have been driving left the highway and crashed. Other occupants of the car escaped injury.

The glare of oncoming headlights in the heavy fog was blamed for the accident.

A Maverick street crash Sunday hospitalized Lavon S. Godfrey, 65, of South Thomaston, with facial injuries. Rockland police report a crash between a car operated by Godfrey and another driven by Antonio Pauliot of Bath. The Pauliot car is said to have been following the Godfrey car and to have skidded into it, knocking it off the highway and into a utility pole.

Police estimate the damages to the Godfrey car at several hundred dollars.

The Public Library, Rockland, will be closed Thursday, Armistice Day.

THE BLACK CAT

By The Roving Reporter

Picture of a big black bear ornaments a souvenir post card which I received the other day from Postmaster O. V. Drow of Vinalhaven, who was rusticiating in the Cobscook region. "No lions up here but plenty of small game," writes Viv.

Rockland fans who attended the Maine-Bowdoin game in Brunswick Saturday had their pride stirred on two occasions. First when the announcer informed the vast throng that the new electric clock, which furnished vital information regarding the gift was the gift of Adriel U. Bird of Rockland and Boston, who is an alumnus of Bowdoin College and one of the staunchest football fans the college has ever produced. The electrically lighted device was of great assistance to the crowd in following the progress of the game.

The other source of pride was contained in the "Football Dope Sheet," presented for the benefit of the press. The opening paragraph stated that Mervyn ap Rice, '89, of Rockland, and George B. Sears '90 of Salem Mass., both of whom had played football (American Rugby) before entering Bowdoin, were the founders of Bowdoin football. They interested other students in the game in the Fall of 1888. Rice was a son of the late A. S. Rice, prominent member of the Knox County Bar; and father of the late Keryn ap Rice, whose last years were spent in Rockland.

The past four Winters—first "mild," then "turbulent," then "wet," and last year, "Old fashioned" in most places, followed the predictions of Mr. Weatherwise. This coming Winter he forecasts as "white, long and cold" but cautions, in addition—something he has rarely done—that the Summer of 1948 may be one of severe crop failures... recalling that this coming Summer falls in a year of great sun spot activity as did the cold Summer of 1816 when great spots could be seen on the sun and it snowed in July. Sunspot activity is said to run in 22 year cycles, which makes this year of 1948 the sixth high activity year since 1816. We pass along Mr. Weatherwise's caution to you for whatever interest it may hold. As we have long said, you shall know the season's nature only when it is upon you—Old Farmer's Almanac.

This is National Cat Week, dedicated to all breeds of cats, from the common alley cat to those of the most aristocratic cat. The proclamation says nothing about "The Black Cat," but I'll warrant that there are some readers of this paper who think it might well be included.

When "Simmy" telephoned to John yesterday and called for paper putty John thought it was another of those striped paint bags, but the paper putty was forthcoming and put to proper use.

Percy Condon's flower gardens are not only notable for their beauty, but he specializes somewhat in fruit, proof of which was contained in the bag of pears which he left at this office yesterday.

YOUR FAVORITE POEM
If I had my life to live again I would have made a rule to read some poetry and listen to some music at least once a week. The loss of these tastes is a loss of happiness.—Charles Darwin.

OVER THE RIVER
Over the river they beckon to me,
Loved ones who've crossed to the farther side.
The beam of their snowy robes I see,
But their voices are lost in the dashing tide.
There's one with ringlets of sunny gold,
And eyes the reflection of heaven's own blue;
He crossed in the twilight gray and cold,
And the pale mist hid him from mortal view.
We saw not the angels who met him there,
The gates of the city we could not see.
Over the river, over the river,
My brother stands waiting to welcome me.

[EDITORIAL]

DUTY OF THE MINORITY

An Associated Press despatch from Washington quotes Senator Aiken of Vermont as offering full co-operation with the Democrats on forward looking legislation the coming four years. Which is as it should be. Nobody wants the minority members to be simply "yes, men," and no reasonable person wants to see the Republicans in the role of obstructionists, but they do want to see the party as an organization and not a mere rubber stamp. The minority will have plenty of opportunity to exercise its influence, but for heaven's sake exercise it in the right direction, and forget the record made by the last Congress.

AND THE GOOSE HANGS HIGH

The Department of Agriculture hands down some very gratifying information regarding crops. The department said dairymen are feeding their cattle 13 percent more grain and other feed than last year and in return are getting record milk-per-cow production. Likewise, hens are putting out about eight percent more per bird than a year ago. The department said field reports indicate that at least as many beef cattle will be grain-fed this Fall and Winter as last, and that the numbers of hogs and chickens are expected to increase in 1949. Supplies of all feed concentrates total about 166,000,000 tons, which is a record in relation to the number of livestock to be fed.

ONE CAUSE FOR GRATITUDE

Bowdoin graduates had a happy time at their Alumni Day luncheon Saturday if they didn't after the football game. Announcement was made of an anonymous gift of $25,000 to the Sesquicentennial Fund, and Alumni were informed that this brought the Fund's total to nearly $1,300,000 in cash and pledges. "We are very much encouraged by the success of the Fund to date," Gen. Philson stated. "Since we began operations a year ago, we have averaged better than $100,000 a month. Our results, compared to those of colleges which have been at this business for two or more years, are outstanding." In all, the Sesquicentennial Fund seeks three millions by 1952, to endow faculty salaries and to build needed facilities.

IT'S AN ENORMOUS BUSINESS

A significant transportation milestone is being observed this year with production of the one hundred millionth motor vehicle in the United States. Many of the materials needed to build motor vehicles come from Maine. Included are chemicals, excelsior, paper, lumber, mohair and tale. With 284,465 motor vehicles registered in 1947, Maine's highway transportation business is one of the leading industries in its entire economic structure.

According to recent figures, there are 49,570 truck and bus drivers in the State. Another 9,063 persons are employed in sales and servicing work, while 2,894 are engaged in building and maintaining highways. Maine also has 609 independent automobile repair shops, as well as 2,100 gasoline service stations. Out of the State's grand total of 20,654 miles of roads, 16,986 are surfaced.

Direct operations now encompass 112 final assembly plants which are located in 77 cities in 24 States. There are approximately eight million other persons who earn their living in such related fields as trucking, vehicle sales and servicing, roadbuilding, catering to tourists, repairing and sagaring. Altogether, 56 firms are producing motor vehicles in this country. Currently, the industry offers 21 makes of passenger cars, 39 makes of trucks and 20 different makes of buses. Their output accounts for five out of every six motor vehicles built in the world.

DID LABOR DO IT?

The friend who reported that the President explained his election with the remark, "Labor did it" hardly rendered Mr. Truman a service. Undoubtedly labor did have a very big part in the Truman victory. While it concentrated chiefly on punishing congressmen who voted for the Taft-Hartley Act it gave direct aid also to the President.

The characterization of the Taft-Hartley Act as the "slave-labor law" is not enlightened; it is, in fact, misleading. We believe that the unions' habit of making a candidate's position on labor the sole criterion of fitness is basically unsocial and dangerous in a democracy. But we believe also that those who assumed that the majority of workers would not vote as their leaders urged were fooling themselves. The unions cannot "deliver" 100 percent in politics, but there is such a thing as a worker's attitude toward political questions. It had its part in Tuesday's voting. Even so, it did not alone extend Harry Truman's lease on the White House. Millions of voters were aiming at very different goals than a "labor government."

When Mr. Truman's own majorities are closely examined the farm vote may prove to have been no whit less vital than the labor vote. He did not carry Wisconsin, Iowa, and Minnesota merely by opposing the Taft-Hartley Act. Nor Ohio, Illinois and Michigan. Labor was by no means the only string to the Truman bow. He bid frankly for the votes of several special-interests groups, including racial and religious minorities. This was dangerous business, but in standing up against any excessive labor demands the President may find safety in the numbers of his other "creditors."—Christian Science Monitor.

Camden Has a New State Bowling Champion—Will Defend Next Month

Mrs. Genina Ames of Camden won the Maine Women's Bowling Championship in Waterville Sunday, defeating the defending champion, Mrs. Ora Mae Vashon of Waterville, 1784-1727.

The keggers couldn't break a tie today, each building to 881 totals. But a comfortable margin of 57 pins was picked up by Mrs. Ames.

Mrs. Ames had 19 extras on two strikes and 34 extras on seven spares while Mrs. Vashon piled 47 extras on nine spares.

Mrs. Vashon captured the crown a year ago from Mrs. Olivia Doggins of Gardiner. The new champion will meet the challenge of Mrs. Alfreda Dyer of Dexter in 10-string matches at Dexter and Camden. The Dexter battle is set for early December.

To Receive Trophy

Our Softball Champs Will Be Awarded It At a Turkey Supper

The Perry Markets Softball Team will receive the official trophy as Maine State Softball Champions from the hands of Softball Commissioner Cyrus K. Briggs of Portland at a banquet to be held at Hotel Rockland Nov. 18.

A turkey dinner will be served at 6:30 p. m. to team members, guests, officials of the league and State Association officials, according to Sol Bernstein, manager of the fast moving diamond squad which waded through the maze of competition to take the local crown and then whipped the Pellottas Oilers in a set of tough games to represent Maine in the New England playoffs.

The season saw the Marketers and the outfit representing Lawrence Portland Cement Company battle it out all the way and then have to play to determine which would represent the city in the State playoffs.

The series with the Pellottas was a battle before the first ball was pitched as the decision as to where the series should be played was fought out.

President Nate Witham of the Rockland association stuck to his guns and the Pellottas played in Rockland as originally agreed.

Making Game Finish

Rockland Tigers Downed Brewer High Under the Floodlights

Denied a score in the second quarter of the Brewer game Friday night when they lost the ball on the three-yard line, Rockland Tigers ripped out a touchdown in the third and fourth quarters to beat the up-river lads 13-6.

Brewer took the ball away from Rockland in the second quarter and marched 93 yards to pay dirt before the half ended and took the Tigers into the last of the game trailing by six points.

Showing that they were the scrappy little team they have proven to be all season with teamwork more important than individual stunts, the Tigers took the kickoff from Brewer's Witches and moved like a well-oiled piece of machinery down the field for 11 plays which carried them over the goal line after a 67-yard march. Deshon crashed over from the four-yard line to score after McIntosh and Foote had toted the pigskin down the field. The Brewer line tightened and stopped Foote cold on the try for extra point.

The fourth quarter opened with the score tied and resulted in a tight battle right down to the closing four minutes of the game when Rockland took the ball on downs on their own 20 and set course for the goal line 80 yards away.

There was no fooling around as the Tigers got set for a score. Deshon whipped a 15-yard pass to fleet Charlie Foote who took it about on his 35, spun out of reach of no less than three Brewer tacklers and raced to the goal approximately 67 yards away. He crossed it alone with the opposition and his own team mates outdistanced. McIntosh plunged the then disorganized Brewer line for the extra point.

A Banger writer, giving an unbiased account of what must have been a hard ball game for the Brewer team to lose, credited Dick Pease and the line in general with a good part of the victory in opening up holes for the backs to travel through in the fast moving second half.

The start of the game was delayed 15 minutes as all hands waited for the fog to life enough to let the floodlights do their work. The lineup:

Rockland (13)
Ends: Holden, Holt, Heino.
Tackles: Long, Hoch.
Guards: Pease, Benson, Connellan.
Center: Thurston.
Backs: Kaler, Deshon, Foote.

Brewer (13)
Ends: Roberts, Huskins, Paulette, Leathers.
Tackles: Thompson, Snowman, Ayer.
Guards: Clark, Fletcher, Waddell, Goodness.
Centers: Gifford, MacDonald.
Backs: Albert, Nickerson, Hainer, Derou, Clements.

Score by periods:
Rockland 0 0 6 7—13

Scoring: Rockland—touchdowns. Deshon, Foote; extra point, MacIntosh. Brewer—touchdown, Clements.

Officials: Referee, Bill Stanton; Umpire, Bob Cluke; head linesman, Lloyd Hatfield.

The Armistice Day Game
The final game of the season comes up Armistice Day at 2 p. m. Running far ahead of a better than average season after upsetting Brewer last week the Orange and Black lads are headed for what is perhaps their toughest one of the season. The show at Community Park offers some really good football and the last chance to see the locals in action this year.

Coaches Ken MacDougal and Mike Todd have whipped a squad, which wasn't given much chance to make the headlines at the outset of the season, into a hard playing team with a good sense of sportsmanship and which has been outstanding in close teamwork throughout the season.

Six wins, over Morse, Brunswick, Greenville, Crosby High of Belfast, Houlton and Brewer, against their trimmings at the hands of Madison, Skowhegan and Winslow sets up a record as good if not better than any Rockland team for one long time. The improvement in the team as the season progressed has been so marked that were the three losses to be played over again there might be closer, if not entirely different scores.

They go into the Gardner game with only one man laid up, Jack Smith, whose injuries kept him out of the Brewer game.

Gardner has a good record this year and has been playing in big time. The result can be better determined about 4 p. m. Thursday; inasmuch as the prophet market is rather low right now, considering the events of the past week.

Thirty Game Schedule

That's the Season's Work Cut Out For Nelson Bros.' Basketeers

A Connellan-coached basketball outfit, under the colors of Nelson Brothers, will shortly enter into what is now scheduled as a 30-game season.

Drawing on the community at large, the semi-pros have a wealth of good material with which to build a court team. Slated for the squad are Mike DiRenzo, George Whittier, Fred Allen, Mike McConchie, Earl Bartlett, John Duff, Earl Bartlett, Andy Coffey, Oscar Flint, Robert Teel, Tut Whittier and Donald Spaulding.

Managing the team will be John Escorcia with Cobb Peterson assisting Connellan. The team has been in practice for upward of two months in semi-weekly sessions and should be in top form when the season opens.

The full slate of games already scheduled will shortly be published with the engagements being made by Donald Estes and Reggie Withington.

MacIntosh, Roberts, Annis, Brewer (6)

Ends: Roberts, Huskins, Paulette, Leathers.

The Armistice Day Game
The final game of the season comes up Armistice Day at 2 p. m. Running far ahead of a better than average season after upsetting Brewer last week the Orange and Black lads are headed for what is perhaps their toughest one of the season. The show at Community Park offers some really good football and the last chance to see the locals in action this year.

The Sea Scouts

A meeting was held Wednesday night with blind knot tying and buoy work highlighting. Special guests were Girl Scout Commissioner Crie, Girl Scout Leader Whitney, and Maritime Committee member Sawyer. Other visitors included Donald Merchant and Maynard Bray of Troop 204.

A combination of a hayride and party will be held Friday night, starting at 7 from the Sea Scout building. Following the hayride, a dancing party will be held at the Yacht Club in the light of the new fireplace. All boys, 15 to 18, are invited to attend if they will invite a girl to accompany them. Girls are requested to bring box lunches and boys will divide cost of trip. The Yacht Club use is donated through the kindness of Commissioner Horatio Cowan.

A series of special evangelistic meetings is to open at the First Baptist Church Nov. 28 and continue through Dec. 5. The leader of this series will be Rev. Donald Graham of Westfield, N. J., who was known in his Army days as the "Singing Chaplain." One of the special features of these meetings will be the Musical Sermons, which will be given on several evenings. Also included in the special features will be a Men's Meeting on Sunday afternoon of Nov. 28. Full details of the meetings will be given later.

In spite of the storm and the measles, the First Baptist Church School, which is in a national contest for increased attendance over a similar period last year, went over last year's attendance on the same date by 12. Last Sunday, there were 238; this Sunday, 238. A year ago next Sunday there was an attendance of 241. That is the number to be surpassed next Sunday, and with weather and health conditions right, and with the high interest being manifest in the contest, that number can be easily surpassed.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Childs left Saturday for a 10-day hunting trip in Naticous Lake region.

Donald G. French, who has the distinction of being the only 1948 four-letter man in Rockland High School, has enlisted in the Army Airborne Troops. He was one of the few who qualified scholastically and athletically for this branch of the services. French is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Gardner French of Broadway. He starred in baseball, basketball, football and track. His four years on the diamond included right and left field; in 1947 he played end at football and 1947 quarter and half. He tried basketball as a guard in his senior year and also went out for track, competing in the 100, 220 and broad jump. French has begun basic training at Camp Dix, N. J.

The Elks meet tonight at 8 o'clock; banquet at 6:30.

The Knox County Petroleum Industries Committee will meet tonight at Hotel Rockland at 7:30, according to an announcement made today by Walter Barstow, Chairman of the Committee. Leroy T. Snowden, executive secretary of the Maine Petroleum Industries Committee, will report on the Committee's activities and future objectives. A color film showing the work of the Committee in Maine will be a special feature. This meeting is one of a series to be held by similar oil men's groups in other counties of the State. Officers for the coming year will be elected at the meeting to which all gasoline and fuel oil dealers, garage operators, automobile dealers and others interested in highway transportation are invited.

In Superior Court

Where Numerous Criminal Matters Are Being Disposed Of

The Knox Bar Association held a banquet Friday night at the Thorndike Hotel in honor of Justice Frank A. Tirrell, Jr., who is presiding over the November term of Superior Court.

A humorous angle of the dinner was the auctioning off of a "Dewey" necktie by Judge Elisha Pike. The story goes that the judge had received the gift of a tie which bore Dewey's likeness, in the mail, the donor doubtless being well aware of Pike's political leanings and intending to rib him a little on what seemed a sure election of the Republican nominee a little over a week ago.

The bidding was hot and Alan Grossman was high bidder at $2, and promptly presented the tie to Alan Bird whose political leanings, in the opposite direction, are as well known as Pike's.

L. True Spear of Rockport, charged with drunken driving by State Trooper Upton of the Thomaston Barracks, was tried by jury Monday on an appeal from Municipal court and found innocent.

Finley C. Beaton of Portland, who escaped from the Maine State Prison Farm in South Warren some time ago, was before the court on an indictment issued in secret by the Grand Jury. He pleaded guilty and was sentenced to one to two years in State Prison. In addition, he will have to complete the sentence which he was serving at the time of his escape and of which there was but 18 days left to serve. The first sentence was for the crime of breaking, entering and larceny.

Francis Wentworth of Camden pleaded guilty to drunken driving charges which arose from an accident in front of Whitehall Inn in Camden in which two persons were injured last summer. He was fined $100 and costs of court and sentenced to 90 days in jail.

A civil case in which Fred Sukeforth of Washington sought damages from Travis Ingham of Friendship for bodily injuries received in an accident in which Sukeforth was allegedly struck by a car operated by Ingham, was settled out of court.

The court calendar for today schedules the trial of Rufus H. Hall of Rockland, charged by the Rockland police with drunken driving.

Nathan Peasley of Rockland pleaded guilty to drunken driving charges following an appeal from Municipal Court and was fined $100 and costs of court of $20.

Edward A. Alden of Union retracted a not guilty plea and pleaded guilty to drunken driving charges and was fined $100 and costs of court of $14.14.

Ralph Gross of Rockland, charged with hit and run driving, was fined $15 and costs of court of $2.70, following a guilty plea.

The case against the Lawrence Portland Cement Company of Thomaston, indicted by the Grand Jury for maintaining a common nuisance, dangerous and injurious to the comfort and property of individuals and the public, was continued with consent of counsel for the respondent.

Hanes Gibson, State Trooper, now attached to the Scarborough barracks, lost a suit for assault brought in Superior Court Friday, by Paul Thomas of Camden. Thomas was awarded $400 in a jury trial which consumed most of the day. The charges arose from an inspection of a truck operated by Thomas last summer in which he alleged that Gibson assaulted him. The alleged assault was explained by the plaintiff to have occurred when Gibson placed a hand upon his arm. The assault was said to have aggravated a nervous condition which necessitated medical treatment.

Members Hear an Expert Discuss the Highway Situation

The meeting Friday was well attended. President Burrows presiding. Jane Mullen of the High School played the piano for the singing.

Rev. Garrett, in charge of the program, introduced the speaker, Lucius L. Barrows, chief engineer for the Maine Highway Department.

Mr. Barrows paid high tribute to the late David Talbot, one of the men he first sought out when there was work to be done in this section. It was due to Mr. Talbot's vision, optimism, and good sense in practical affairs that helped speed up the legislation for good roads. Robert (Bob) Keene was praised for his intelligent and cooperative work on the city streets.

The speaker said that while he wanted to talk on betterments, he did not always get the idea across. Explaining carefully for 15 minutes to an audience the State plan for betterments, he was startled when a man asked, "Just what do you mean by betterments?"

At the conclusion of another talk a man told him, "I don't suppose anything interesting can be said about roads."

The problems of financing our highway department are many and varied. A balance is often misleading for people are led to believe that the department has millions of just waiting to be thrown around, but has a disposition to keep it not set it to work.

The Department is trying honestly to give the people what they want. But today the highway dollar will go no farther than the beef steak dollar. It takes $1.80 to do the work of the $1 of the previous years.

Another trend is that you cannot get from a crew of men what you used to get. The Highway Department has no surplus funds. In fact all balances are earmarked for work already contracted for in towns and cities and on highways. At one time a balance of $4,000,000 was set up when actually $8,000,000 was worth of work was under contract. The Highway Department must work in anticipation of income.

Costs for maintenance have in the last few months been thousands of dollars more than income, and so far we have not set up the reserves that will insure us federal aid, and it is always good business to have $1,000,000 in the contingent fund.

If we are to match the federal money we must have something to match it with. It is a problem now to carry on or to cut out. The speaker explained that some of our obligations had been carried down to 1950-2. Our vehicles are rolling over roads built 15 years ago, and these must serve.

The truth is that we can not keep up with our rolling stock. Accidents on the road are in general not the fault of the roads, but the fault of the people using them. Mr. Barrows spoke upon the efforts of his department to anticipate problems that might come up, regretting that the urban problem had not gotten very far.

The Highway Department must live up to very strict requirements. The interest of his audience in his subject was shown by the lively question period that followed.

Guests from the High School for November are Richard McIntosh, Richard Pease, Other guests, William Coffield, L. Dandineau, Lee Warren and Bill Bicknell.

Visiting whistlers, George W. Perry, Camden; C. A. Lawrence, Belfast; John Carroll, Portland; Ken Crane, Jr., H. R. Stone, Belfast.

State Poultry Show

Earle R. Conant Formerly Of Rockland Is General Manager

National Grange Master Albert S. Goss of Columbus, Ohio, will open the Maine State Poultry and Trade Exposition at South Portland Army Air 18, 19 and 20, according to Earle R. Conant of Oakland, general manager of the show.

Conant, chairman of the newly organized Trade Exhibitors' Council of Portland, which is co-operating with the Maine State Poultry Association in the operation of its 48th Annual Exposition, said he had contacted representatives of the Grange Master, who will be in Portland for the 82d convention of the National Grange beginning this week, and had arranged for him to officially open the three-day exhibition.

This year the Poultry and Trade Exposition will include, in addition to many classes of competition including poultry, bantams, guinea fowls, ducks, geese and turkeys, an egg show, judging competition by Future Farmer teams, and competitive demonstrations by 4-H club teams.

The Maine Poultry Improvement Association, of which Waldo Child of Wells, is president, is also co-operating with the Maine State Poultry Association headed by Herbert M. Tucker of Augusta in the Exposition. L. E. Clark of Portland is Hall Superintendent.

Judges in poultry competition, which is held under the rules of the American Poultry Association, are Harold Tompkins of Concord, Mass.; Justin A. Southwick of Blackstone, Mass.; B. W. Ringrose of Yarmouth; and Henry T. Covell of Monmouth, Mass. Speaking programs, to which the public is invited, will be held on Thursday and Friday afternoons.

In The Service

Richard M. Sukeforth, 25, of Burketville, re-enlisted in the U. S. Army with rank of Private. It has been announced by officials of the Central Examining Station at Fort Preble, So. Portland, Maine, he was sworn in on Nov. 2, and will report to Fort Dix, N.J., as his initial assignment.

Pvt. Sukeforth is a son of Rhoda P. Sukeforth. His mother lives at 64 Winter street, Gardiner.

He is a veteran of two years and 10 months service in the U. S. Army of which he spent 28 months in the Alaskan Department, and is entitled to wear the World War II Victory Medal, Asiatic-Pacific Theatre Campaign Ribbon, and Good Conduct Medal.

He is a graduate of Appleton High School, class of 1940, and is a member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, and the Grange.

The Telephone Company Advances Reasons Why It Should Be Granted

An "extremely precarious financial situation," the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company said has made immediate rate increases in Maine imperative.

Vice President and Treasurer Clyde J. Heath of Boston told the Maine Public Utilities Commission in a public hearing that "by inadequate earnings the company's credit has been impaired." The company has requested permanent rate boosts totaling about $2,700,000 a year in Maine.

Thursday's hearing was on a requested while the Commission considers the full petition.

The last increase allowed the company here was one of $1,350,000 in May, 1947. A request for $1,770,000 more was denied after hearings last May and June. Since the May, 1947, increase, Heath said, wage increases totaling $800,000 a year have been granted the company's Maine employees. The latest general increase occurred Sept. 12. Costs of equipment and supplies have increased, he added.

Heath testified that the company's net investment in Maine for both intra and interstate operations had increased 27 percent to $37,600,000 since the end of May, 1947. Although there was a 10 percent increase to 205,076 in the number of telephones in service, the investment for each telephone rose in the same period from $241 to $259 Heath said.

Construction costs have had to be financed on an expensive temporary basis, he said, because the company's credit has been lowered by unfavorable earnings.

Heath presented an exhibit showing estimated net earnings of 2.25 percent of net investment for six months ending next March 31 under present rates. He said earnings for the first nine months of this year in Maine were 2.8 percent, and for 16 months ending Sept. 30 of 2.29 percent.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Simmons announce the engagement of their daughter, Dorothy Isabel Simmons, to T. MacKenzie Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Williams of Appleton. Miss Simmons graduated from Warren High School, class of 1942, and during the war, was employed in Wallingford, and Meriden, Conn., by a precision instrument company. Since her return to this town, she was clerk for a time at the George Walker and Son Red and White Store, later ran the restaurant in this town, and now is employed at Holiday House, South Warren. Mr. Williams, employed at his father's poultry farm in Appleton, saw a tour of duty with the Army Air Corps, his overseas service in the European area. No date has been set for the wedding.

Ruby Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Starrett were feted Sunday afternoon at a family party at their home, in honor of their 40th wedding anniversary. Arrangements made for the affair by their daughter, Mrs. Katherine Stanhope of Portland.

Mrs. Starrett, the oldest daughter of Charles and Vesta Siegars of Dresden, and Fred A. Starrett, son of Joshua and Mary Peyer Starrett, were married at the South Dresden Methodist Church, Oct. 21, 1908, by Rev. Irving Flint.

Their attendants at that time were Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Starrett, Mrs. Mary Wall of Warren, Mr. and Mrs. Glenwood Siegars of Woolwich, Ray Kallach of Thomaston, Arthur Siegars of West Dresden, and Mrs. Jennie Cameron of Bath.

Mr. and Mrs. Starrett are both members of the Warren Grange, Knox Pomona and State Granges. They also are members of the Congregational Church and Parish.

Mrs. Starrett is affiliated with the Ladies' Circle. She has been through the chairs of Ivy Chapter, O.E.S., and also of Mystic Rebekah Lodge, and the E. A. Starrett Auxiliary, S.U.V. She has served in several of the offices of Warren Granges of which Mr. Starrett is a past master. Mr. Starrett has been through the chairs of Warren Lodge, I.O.O.F., and holds an appointive office in Mt. Horeb Encampment of Union.

The first two years of their wedded life were spent in Portland, where he was employed, but they since have been residents here.

Mrs. Starrett is a practical nurse. Mr. Starrett is at present employed with the State road patrolman, Lamont Thayer.

They have one daughter, Mrs. Stanhope of Portland, and one son, Parker Starrett of Woolwich, and one grandson.

They received many gifts, among which was a purse of money. Refreshments served included an anniversary cake.

Present at the party were Mr. and Mrs. Parker Starrett, and Mr. and Mrs. Horace Allen of Woolwich, Mrs. Katherine Stanhope of Portland, Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Starrett, Misses Christine and Virginia Starrett, Miss Addie Lermont, and Joseph Hahn, of this town.

History Of Nursing

An Art Which Traces Back To The Days Of The Low-est Savages

It is important that women who undertake nursing, a work as old as the world itself, should know something about its history.

The lowest savages have a certain amount of nursing knowledge and skill. Much of this knowledge is instinctive, similar to that of animals. In ancient Egypt the sick went to the Temples of the Gods. In both Egypt and Babylon it was the custom to lay the sick in the streets and it was a law that passers-by should give them what advice they could out of their own experience.

The Vedas, the sacred books of India, treat of medicine, of magic, and minor surgery, bandaging, poisons and their antidotes, and drugs. They also discuss nervous diseases and insanity, etc. They contain much instruction in hygiene.

In behalf of the chapter, The "Fence of Love", a beautiful ceremony, was then presented by officers and members in an impressive manner.

Each part was taken exceptionally well. A beautiful luncheon was served by candlelight with Halloween decorations. The worthy matron was in charge, assisted by officers. Birthday greetings, sung by the entire chapter, were extended to Mrs. Georgia Roberts. This was one of the best meetings of the year.

Robert L. Ames

After an illness of several months, Robert L. Ames died Oct. 3 at his home here, aged 75. Mr. Ames was born at Green's Island, son of James and Edna Wentworth Ames and had resided here nearly all his life, a respected citizen.

He is survived by his wife, Lizzie E.; two sons, Leonard of Rockport and Kenneth of this town; three sisters, Mrs. Carrie Gould of Rockland, Mrs. Nellie Thayer and Mrs. Jennie Calderwood of this place; two brothers, Almon Ames of North Haven and Ernest Ames of Auburn, Mass.

Services were held at the Headley Funeral Home with many beautiful floral offerings. Rev. Lola White officiated. Interment was in Browns Head cemetery. The bearers were Pearl Dyer, Aurelius Calderwood, Howard McFarland and Roy Dyer.

Those from out-of-town who attended the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Ames, Miss Leona Ames, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Gardiner, Rockport; Mr. and Mrs. Almon Ames, Walker Ames, Sherman Bain and Percy Crockett, North Haven.

giene, and set forth the theory that disease is preventable.

Moses has been called the greatest physician of all time. It is certain that he was a masterly sanitarian, and the practical application of his code will be appreciated when one realizes that he was in charge of a camp of more than a million people. All the principles of modern sanitation are anticipated in the Jewish law, and its methods are in accord with modern bacteriology.

The Greeks did not feel it worth while to care for any cases of illness but those considered curable. They took the philosophy that it was kinder to let them die as soon as possible.

The care of sick slaves was one of the duties of the mistress of the mansion. Soldiers were nursed on the battlefield at public expense. In the time of Xenophon, 400 B. C. there was an organized medical corps in the army.

In Roman ruins found in Switzerland there were discovered many nursing utensils—enamel bulbs, tubing, rectal tips, ointment jars, etc. In Pompeii, destroyed in the year 79, many fine surgical instruments similar to our own have been found. In America the ancient Aztecs had well-organized hospitals.

The Hotel Dieu of Lyons and Paris, and other hospitals founded as far back as the 6th and 7th centuries still exist. Religious pilgrimages, and especially the Crusades, created a necessity for many large hospitals. Nobles held office in them, but much of the nursing was done by low-class servants.

The Arabs had fine, well-managed hospitals in Northern Africa, Western Asia and Spain.

The Dark Period of Nursing extended from about 1675 up to the middle of the 19th century. As a protest against the existing conditions Charles Dickens depicted the character of Sary Gamp.

Training schools for nurses were established in Germany by doctors as early as 1830, and are part of the foundation of modern training schools.

Florence Nightingale may be considered the founder of modern nursing. She was born in 1820 in Florence, Italy of English parents; she was unusually well educated, well bred, well-to-do, had an excellent social position, and was attractive. She was deeply religious and had a passion for helpfulness. She became superintendent of a private hospital in London in 1853.

The failure of the government to provide proper medical service in the Crimea became a call for a person of unusual ability and character to handle the situation. Florence Nightingale offered herself and went to the Crimea in October 1854, with 38 nurses, Catholic and

For Older Boys

Conference in Bangor Nov. 19-21—Dr. McClurkin Speaker

Dr. Paul McClurkin, Congregational minister and consulting psychologist of Hadley, Mass., will be the principal speaker at the annual Older Boys' Conference to be held in Bangor, Nov. 19-21.

Dr. McClurkin, who will give four addresses at the three-day conference, has spent several years in research designed to bring together the outstanding discoveries about successful living. The result of his work will be a handbook on living, setting forth information obtained from the records of business, medicine, psychology, history and religion.

The Older Boys' Conference, held each year under the sponsorship of the State YMCA, is open to boys throughout Maine who are in the upper three High School classes and are members of some organized group such as those sponsored by YMCA, Boy Scouts, schools and churches.

Protestant. She found thousands of sick and wounded soldiers suffering from lack of nursing care and supplies, with dirt and chaos rampant.

With remarkable initiative and insight she was able to reduce the death rate from 42 percent to 2 percent. In 1855 she contracted Crimean fever and barely escaped with her life. She returned to England in July, 1856, and found herself a popular heroine. The Nightingale School was established in 1860. Her work for the betterment of health conditions and sanitation in India which was done through a period of 40 years, was probably her greatest work, but is least known. She worked actively up to 1900, and after that failed in mind and body. She died in 1910 at the age of 90.

The Pennsylvania Hospital of Philadelphia, founded in 1751, claims to be the first hospital in the strict sense of the word. Most of the nursing was done by the lowest classes, paupers, prisoners, etc. There was practically no night nursing. The death rate was high, the sanitary conditions shocking. These facts account for the popular prejudice against hospitals.

Mental Hospitals were badly managed until Dorothea Dix began her work of publicity and reform. The McLean Asylum of Massachusetts, appears to have been the only exception.

Roman Catholic sisterhoods had hospitals in the U. S. from about 1800, and did the best work there was. Protestant sisterhoods also did nursing. Deaconess Hospitals began in 1849 at Pittsburgh. Deacons were few, so intelligent mothers prescribed for as well as nursed their families.

The Red Cross Society is an international lay organization, organized for the care of wounded in war and for the distressed in time of peace. The Convention was signed in 1864. The United States did not enter the Red Cross until 1862 when a committee was organized under the leadership of Clara Barton. The service of the Red Cross has always been remarkable for its perfect organization, its quickness to move, its all-round efficiency. The Red Cross Nursing Service organized in the United States in 1900 is now a power in the country and in the world.

The nurses in the Civil War were Roman Catholic Sisters, lay women who had received a short training. There are several claimants to the honor of having first trained nurses in America. Doubtless the first attempt to train nurses was made by the Ursuline Sisters of Quebec, who about 1640 taught the savage women to care for their sick.

The first permanent training school in New England, is the N. E. Hospital for Women, in Boston, where the organization was composed entirely of women physicians. The work began probably after Dr. Marie Zakrzewski, of Germany, took the Chair of Obstetrics in 1859. She trained six nurses during her first two years, but they were not given certificates. By 1863, 30 nurses had gone through training in obstetrics, not certified and were not called graduates.

They Bounced Back

Beulah's Best Lobster Chowder May Have "Dummit" For the Skippers

No one knows whether it was the lobster chowder that did it or whether the Skippers just decided to pin back the ears of Captain Grimes' Ganders and then did a very good job at it, but whatever the reason the regular Monday night set-to resulted in a stinging 50-pin defeat for The Gooses, The Grimes and The Ganders.

The night before Skipper Drew had played host to both teams at Camp Drewdrop, and Beulah's Best Lobster Chowder being on the menu and being what it is, it is only natural that some of the bowlers might have over-indulged and let their appetites run away with their bowling scores.

While the scores were some better than the previous week they are still below what the boys expect to do when they get really limbered up. But off-times what they expect to do and what they really produce are two very different things, as for instance the performance of 'Herb' Loveless, who, subbing on the Ganders, solemnly informed Captain Grimes that he hadn't bowled below 90 for three weeks and got one high string of 115 just the day before. He then turned in a 236 score to the accompaniment of all kinds of razzes and Bronx cheers.

The discards for the week were MacDonald and Loveless for the Ganders and Young and Anderson for the Skippers, the latter having one of those nights when he could hit them only where they weren't. Poole was back in the line-up for the Skippers and while a bit rusty at first was getting better all the time and will be there with bells on and all ringing from now on.

There will be an exodus of Ganders out of town by next week, most of them hunting the elusive deer, but Shields will be back from his job as Moderator at the "Cracker Barrel Forum" at Shield's Store and is expected to lend some strength to the Gander line-up. If there isn't some strength displayed by the Ganders before long you can expect Captain Grimes to start feeding his boys Limburger cheese, fresh onions, and red pepper.

Following is the reason strong men shed tears:

Soil Conservation

By Roy Gross, Soil Conservation Service, Waldoboro.

It is always time to carry on erosion control work, says the Soil Conservationist for the Knox-Lincoln Soil Conservation District, and now that bird hunting is in season, the more erosion control work done by farmers, the more birds there will be to hunt.

County farmers may wonder what connection there is between erosion and bird hunting. A survey made by biologists of the Soil Conservation Service shows some specific results. Biologists know that the grazing of woodlands is injurious to the trees and soil and that woodlands don't make very good pasture. The object of the survey was to determine whether the grazing of woodlands had any effect on wildlife populations.

According to the soil saving biologists, it was found that the grazed woodlands had 111 pairs of birds per 100 acres. In woods which were protected from livestock, there were 225 pair of birds per 100 acres, or more than twice as many as the grazed woodland.

Protecting woods from livestock, states Mr. Gross, is a standard soil conservation practice. It is designed to produce better woodlands and to conserve soil and moisture and at the same time benefit wildlife. Woods protected from livestock contain more kinds of shrubs than do grazed woodlands and these shrubs produce a variety of food for birds and other forms of wildlife. Birds are of value to the woods for they were constant warfare on insect pests which attack the trees and shrubs, and the crops in adjoining cultivated fields. Assistance is available to farmers from the Soil Conservation District in planning protection for farm woodlands.

They're mighty good folks to have around...

These four good people have worked for this company a total of 73 years. The average for all 28,000 Esso Standard Oil workers today is almost 14 years with the company!

In a time like this, workers like these are mighty good ones to have on the job—not just for the company, but also for you.

Their extra measure of skill, experience and job loyalty is setting amazing records in production to help meet an all-time record high demand for gasoline and heating oil and other products.

One reason these extra-good workers are here today is simply the extra-good jobs they have at Esso Standard.

Over 30 years ago, the company set up an unusual "good jobs policy." It was based on the belief that better jobs would mean better workers, and that would mean a better company.

Since then, with our workers, we have developed plans which give every Esso Standard worker such job advantages as vacations with pay...special benefits in case of sickness or accidents...chance to advance in the company...cash savings in a Thrift Plan...fair treatment at all job levels...and planned retirement with steady income assured for life.

All this was done as a matter of good business. It has given good business results. Not a strike or major work disturbance in over 30 years. Steady, skillful workers on the job. Records in production when the country needs record supply of product. Yes...they're mighty good folks to have around, from your point of view and from ours!

Rockport Revival

It Starts Tomorrow and Continues Through Friday

Hazen MacDonald

Hazen MacDonald, well-known layman evangelist, will conduct special services at the Rockport Baptist Church, starting Wednesday at 7.30 p. m. and continuing through the rest of the week, with the exception of Saturday night.

Mr. MacDonald has been a successful business man operating in the New England area for many years. At present he is field representative of the public relations department of Gordon College, Mr. MacDonald is an interesting and dynamic Bible expositor. Bible lectures will be given every night on topics vital to present day Christian living.

You are cordially invited to come and enjoy these services. Special music will be rendered at all the services. Help start a revival in Rockport.

Starred At Maine

Members Of Camden Hills Theatre Won Laurels In "Arms and the Man"

Three members of the Camden Hills Theatre were starred recently at the University of Maine in Prof. Herschel Bricker's presentation of "Arms and the Man," a three-act comedy by George Bernard Shaw, it has been announced.

Alfred Dumais, Marnel Abrams, and John Ballou played major parts in the play, the first of the year for the Maine Masque Theatre, the University theatre group.

Dumais will be remembered as the Professor in "Ten Nights in a Bar-Room," Yank in "The Hasty Heart" and as the author of the popular musical, "Again It's Yesterday" Abrams during the Summer appeared in "The Hasty Heart," "The Bishop Misbehaves," and "As You Like It."

Ballou, who acted as public relations director for the Camden Hills Theatre during the Summer, appeared in only two productions last season, "The Hasty Heart" and "Again It's Yesterday." Two seasons ago however, he was in five of the six productions presented, and was an immediate favorite with those who attended the fine productions of the Camden Hills Theatre.

Several Rockland and vicinity people were in the opening night audience of "Arms and the Man," including Mr. and Mrs. Almon Cooper, Rockville; Mr. and Mrs. James Moore, Glen Cove; James Brown, curator of the Farnsworth Memorial Museum, Rockland; and Francis Hamabe, Rockport artist.

Congregational Notes

In attendance Sunday at the Men's Conclave at Hallowell for Congregational laymen from the Knox, Lincoln and Kennebec valley churches were Donald C. Cummings and Charles E. Merritt, co-chairmen of the section on "Church Finances," David Beach, Jesse Bradstreet and W. W. Graves, deacons; and the pastor. The meeting was very interesting and the men who went were enthusiastic about future sessions of the men of the churches meeting for fellowship and information.

Thirty-four couples met Friday night at the church for the monthly session of Kupples Klub. The supper was excellent and the members were enthusiastic about Father Kenyon's interesting pictures and "chatter." The secretaries of the group are reporting the meeting in full elsewhere, but it was a happy event.

"Perfect" attendance for the Church School for October will not be announced until next Sunday, pending the completion of checking bona fide absences. The current measles epidemic is keeping many away. The only excuses acceptable for absence is sickness, certified by parent or guardian and attendance at another Church School if out of town in which case certification by pastor, superintendent or teacher where the person attended. There will be a long list of those who qualify. Miss Pemery's class continues to have 100 percent attendance.

Two groups meet at the church this week in anticipation of the annual fair on the 18th. The Odds and Ends meet tonight (Tuesday) at 7.30, and the Rounds Mothers meet tomorrow night at 7.30.

The Men's Association meets for its November session on Friday for supper at 6.30, followed by business, the chief topic of which will be its Thanksgiving Dance, and a program to be announced.

Next Sunday the men of the church will join in the annual Men and Missions Sunday. Deacon John M. Pomeroy will speak on the theme chosen this year for use all across the nation "Millions Are Waiting—While Christ Waits For Us." Five other men and the pastor will participate in the service, in addition to those who usher.

Next Sunday, the Comrades of the Way will include in their program the showing of the first in a series of filmstrips "Boy Meets Girl."

Last Sunday the filmstrip with recorded script "The Land of the Morning Star" was shown at both sessions of the Church School. The story back of the pictures was that of the service rendered by Morning Star VI, a motor and sail yacht used in the Marshall, Caroline and Gilbert Islands for transporting personnel and materials to the many islands served by the mission board. This area was served for many years, became self-sufficient and then World War II has made them dependent for a while on America's help again.

of the school season will be Dec. 8, 9, 10 and 11 when he presents the recent Broadway hit "The Winslow Boy."

An X-ray generator whose rays can penetrate 16 inches of steel has been made.

The Hearing Society

Entertained By Mrs. Blanche Witham—Interesting Reports Heard

The Rockland Hearing Society was entertained Thursday by Mrs. Blanche Witham at her home on Suffolk street.

Mrs. Gladys Thomas presided at the business session and a report was given of the reception, Oct. 5, the American Hearing Society held at Washington honoring Miss Betty Wright, its executive director, who has just completed a quarter century of service to the Society. Miss Wright is nationally known and has spoken several times in Maine.

Attention was called to the article, "Let's Help Them Hear" by Lawrence Galton in the current issue of "Better Homes and Gardens," in which many good points for the hard of hearing child are brought out. The value of lip reading instruction in the program of the estimated 3,000,000 children in the country with hearing defects is stressed, and there are only 250 cities and towns providing that training. In Maine, Portland leads the way, and its program in the public schools, for which the vision and initiative of Miss Eliza C. Hannegan is largely responsible, has had wide commendation.

A 5950 mile trip which led through 22 states and extended as far north as Hamilton, Ont. west to Detroit and south to Lake Wales was described by Mrs. Nancy Brown and an interesting assortment of souvenirs was shown.

Greetings were read from Miss Helen L. Carr, Mrs. Bessie Hewitt and Mrs. Julia Marley.

A social hour followed at which Mrs. Ellen Dyer and Miss Clara Fuller, both with November birthdays, were happily surprised with a shower of handkerchiefs and a beautiful birthday cake made by the hostess, Miss Fuller cut the cake and Mrs. Thomas and Mrs. Butler assisted Mrs. Witham in serving. The next meeting will be held with Mrs. Thomas, Dec. 9, at her home on Broad street.

Benefit Both Sides

Senator Brewster Tells Eastern Service Clubs Of Tidal Project

Senator Brewster says that "no one has ever questioned" the feasibility of harnessing Passamaquoddy Bay tides to make power "from an engineering standpoint."

Several million dollars was spent on the tide-power project before it was suspended in 1936 because Congress cut off additional funds. Canada declined to participate in the project, proposed originally as an international development.

Brewster said in an address prepared for the Calais Rotary Club and Associated Service Clubs of Maine and New Brunswick: "Borings to determine the foundations for the sea wall of the great basin are the one essential to establish the economic feasibility of the Quoddy project."

Power shortages are developing on both sides of the international line, Brewster said.

"Herein," he added, "is the reason for hope that the international Quoddy project may once again receive the sympathetic consideration to which it is entitled in the opinion of some of the most eminent engineers.

"Quoddy presents the nearest thing to perpetual motion on this earth," he said. "Watersheds dry up, as we have learned to our sorrow last year, but the Atlantic Ocean rolls on forever."

Gov. Dewey is urging development of a great international power project by his State and the province of Ontario, Brewster said, adding:

"Proponents of Quoddy have only to demonstrate similar possibilities along our Canadian border to establish a complete parallel with a most impressive precedent."

HIGH-SCHOOL HIGHLIGHTS

Elwyn Thompson and Jane Harvey are assisting Mr. Clunie in the office this week. The office messengers are: Ruth Tootill, Ann Phillip Rowling, Louise Allen, Alice Ludwig, Carroll Cole, John Dodge, Lunt, Patricia Bisbee.

The High School Highlights were typed this week by Agnes Brown.

Miss Thompson, Mrs. Smith and Mr. Whitin are on noon duty this week.

The examination schedules were typed by Jacqueline Grispi; and examinations for Junior High were mimeographed by Ruth Mahoney, Alice Kinney and Dea Perry.

Alice Kinney and Jeanne Merrill are putting out the morning attendance sheet this week; Elizabeth Blid prepares the afternoon sheet.

Good Citizenship Pilgrimage of D. A. R.

In place of a trip to Washington, D. C., this year a government bond of $100 will be awarded to the "State Pilgrim" whose name is drawn at the State conference in the Spring. The method of selecting the Good Citizen is:

Students choose by vote three girls in their class who possess the following qualities:

1. Dependability — truthfulness, loyalty, punctuality.
2. Service—co-operation, courtesy, consideration of others.
3. Leadership — personality, self-control, ability to assume responsibility.
4. Patriotism — unselfish interest in family, school, community and nation.

The faculty then select one of these three girls as the school's Good Citizen, and her name will be sent to Mrs. Lewis C. Sturtevant, chapter chairman, the Copper Kettle, Rockland, by Feb. 1, 1949.

Each Good Citizen receives a Certificate of Award.

Attention! Parents and Teachers!

Come to the Junior-Senior High P. T. A. meeting Tuesday night at 7.30 at the High School Auditorium. Miss DiRenzo will speak on our Recreation Program. The members of the Youth Council will be present at this meeting. Please make a special effort to meet with us.

The Junior Prom is being held on the nineteenth of November at the Community building. The Junior Class has worked hard to make this Prom a success, and to make an enjoyable evening for all. The Juniors need the support of all students and parents. The Bowdoin Polar Bears have been engaged to play for this festive occasion. It is a good orchestra, one that everyone will enjoy. Help the Juniors and have a good time yourself.

A bus will take many loyal supporters of the Rockland football team to Brewer Friday. Among those attending will be Mr. Barnard, Mary Iivonen, Louise Ulmer.

Gov. Dewey is urging development of a great international power project by his State and the province of Ontario, Brewster said, adding:

The Tag Days for the benefit of the cheerleaders' uniforms were very successful. Friday at the High School $35 was collected. The sale on Main street Saturday brought the total to $141.92. The cheerleaders and substitute cheerleaders conducted the sale: Louise Ulmer, Dolly Thompson, Agnes Brown, Ruth Roberts, Dorothy Curtis, Elaine Christoffersen, Beulah Powell, Eunice Pettis, Dea Perry, Catherine Libby.

Mr. Daley, Mr. Adams and Mr. Barnard are on noon duty this week.

Students and teachers are very busy this week with the first quarter examinations.

Elvira Johnson and Verna Waldron are assisting Mr. Clunie in the office this week. The office messengers are: Ruth Tootill, Ann Ludwig, Carroll Cole, Jack Dodge, Philip Rowling, Louise Allen, Alice Lunt and Patricia Bisbee.

The menus for the meals served by Mrs. Dorman last week were: Monday—Corn chowder, crackers, pickle sticks, bread and butter sandwiches, apple sauce, chocolate cookies, milk.
Tuesday—Frankfurt, mashed potatoes, green beans, relish, milk, coffee cake, cup cakes.
Wednesday—Baked beans, cabbage salad, hot rolls and butter, milk, brownies, ice cream.
Thursday—American chop suey, tossed salad, mashed squash, rice bread and butter, milk, mince meat cookie, apple.
Friday—Tomato juice, creamed fish, mashed potato, buttered turnip, pickle sticks, bread and butter, milk, white cake with chocolate icing.

Girl Scout Plans

Discussed At Length By the Rockland Council Thursday Night

The Rockland Council of Girl Scouts met Thursday night with Commissioner Crie presiding. Reports were given by Program Chairman Mrs. Pauline Talbot, Training Chairman, Mrs. Lina Mountfort, Leader's Representative, Mrs. Kathleen Harriman, and Clothing Kit Chairman, Mrs. Barbara Griffith. A vote of thanks was given the co-chairmen of the most successful rummage sale, Mrs. Phyllis Grispi and Mrs. Ruth Pendleton. Permission was granted by the Council for many troops to hold a money-raising event for the benefit of their troop treasuries.

The "Clothing Kit" project was discussed at great length. Members of the Council, and leaders who have articles left over from previous Kits already mailed, were asked to meet in the Scout Room Wednesday afternoon, at 1.45 to make up as many kits as possible. Take all articles, regardless of age of child.

A discussion was held concerning a Christmas party, at which all the leaders will be honored guests. The committee for the party will be Mrs. Pauline Talbot, Mrs. Dorothy Bird, Mrs. Lina Mountfort, Mrs. Alice Priest, Mrs. Barbara Griffith and Mrs. Vivian Hadden. The date, Thursday, Dec. 2, Troop 5, Mrs. Leona Whitehill, leader, will assist in the decorating of the room.

The meeting was then turned over to the Senior Scout leader, Mrs. Adah Roberts, who spoke at length on the new Mariner Troop which has been formed in the city. She mentioned the necessary qualifications, and plans for the future of the troop.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Frances Mosher and Mrs. Phyllis Grispi.

Brownie Troop No. 3 met Tuesday in the Farnsworth Memorial with 11 members present. Mrs. Merle Luce of the Troop committee assisted Mrs. Kathleen Harrison, leader, in the absence of Mrs. Dorothy Childs, assistant leader. Patricia Sweeney was elected to be the Juliette Low member for the coming year. An investiture ceremony was held for two new members, Priscilla Benner and Sandra Strickland. After they had repeated the promise and laws the leader pinned the Brownie pin on their right collar officially making them members of the Troop. While the girls worked on Puritan boy and girl place cards and the turkey nut cups for the Hyde Memorial, the leader read chapters three and four from Arlo. Eleven Brownies from the membership of 14 of this Troop attended the services Sunday at the Universalist Church.

Troop No. 4 now has 24 members with 18 who are attending regularly. They are: Sally Achorn, Mildred Copeland, Sonia Curry, Janice Pickett, Delores Galiano, Gail Grant, Janice Hutchinson, Prudence Iott, Arlene Miller, Nancy Post, Helen Ranta, Phyllis Robinson, Gloria Shafter, Judith Staples, Janet Stewart, Marion Talbot, Sylvia Trener, Joan Williams.

Rochana is a feminine personal name of Persian origin signifying dawn of day.

Thirty Governors

The Democratic Tidal Wave Swept Them Into Office Tuesday

President Truman's vote-getting magic pulled the Democrats into solid control in 30 of the nation's 48 governorships.

The Truman drive that came from nowhere swept the Republicans out of eight gubernatorial offices and rolled up Democratic victories in 30 of the 33 State contests. The governorships had been divided evenly—24 to 24.

Only one race was in doubt in Washington, Democratic Gov. Mon. C. Wallgren, close personal friend of the President, was trailing Republican Arthur B. Langlie.

Statehouse victories mean far more nationally than something to brag about. They are sources of party strength, and many a national leader has stepped forth from a governor's office. The Democrats turned Republicans out of office in Connecticut, Delaware, Illinois, Indiana, Massachusetts, Michigan, Montana and Ohio.

Vermont patrons were made happy by the selection at the recent primaries of State Master Harold J. Arthur of Burlington as Republican candidate for lieutenant-governor. In Vermont the nomination is virtually equivalent to election. Mr. Arthur has been for several years clerk of the Vermont House of Representatives, hence has had valuable experience in the public service.

In this connection it is of interest to record that the State master and Mrs. Arthur are both practicing attorneys, constituting the firm of Arthur & Arthur, who carry on an extensive law practice in Burlington. Mr. Arthur was for several years in the United States regular army and he retired with the rank of major. During his absence Mrs. Arthur successfully carried on the business of their law office.

Three Studies

Gov.-elect Payne Makes Recommendations To Research Committee

Gov.-elect Frederick G. Payne has asked the legislative research committee to provide for three studies for the 94th Legislature:

1. A cost study of Maine's institutional farm system.
2. A time study of personnel and machine used in a few selected State departments.
3. Consideration of three suggested measures to give Maine a disaster control program.

The committee took the requests under advisement in executive session.

Payne presented first his farm proposal, one he had mentioned earlier in budget hearings. "If we can't operate these farms at a profit," he said, "we ought to get out of the business. I think we can operate them profitably if we make this study."

The time study, Payne said, would "determine the present employment load and ascertain whether all positions currently filled are essential to the jobs the State is trying to do."

"I would like to go into the uses being made of equipment. Many departments do have excess equipment that, frankly, I think we should pool. I think we would find that in many cases (pooling of manpower and machines) would result in considerable benefit."

Payne said he favored parts of a disaster control program given the research committee by Gov. Hildreth. It came from the law committee of his fire prevention conference. Part of the proposal which would grant subsidies to stricken communities was less satisfactory, Payne said. The proposal would set up a director of public safety and regional officials to conduct fire fighting or mobilization for any other form of emergency.

Proposals similar in purpose have been offered by the Maine Fire Chiefs' Association and the State Forestry Department, the latter chiefly concerned with jurisdiction over fighting of forest fires.

Payne said the fire chiefs' proposal would provide for central control of fire fighting in blazes of disaster proportions.

"If there is anything we lack, basically, it is coordination," Payne said.

He opposed the idea of establishing an extensive full-time grammar school. He said he had not seen this with the common sense idea that these things just don't happen every day, but we have to be prepared for them," Payne said.

Appearing in the famous play adapted from Dickens A Tale of Two Cities, Mr. Brian Aherne presents an unforgettable character in his self-sacrifice, even to death. The presentation is one of the GREAT SCENES FROM GREAT PLAYS produced by the Protestant Episcopal Church, with the cooperation of the Episcopal Actors' Guild. A program is on the air every Friday evening at 8:00 eastern standard time, and corresponding hours in the other time zones. Over all Mutual Broadcasting stations and many independent stations.

Had A Busy Year

Directors Tell Of Camden Chamber Of Commerce Activities

Your Chamber has continued to grow in size and in effectiveness. Forty-six new members joined this organization in 1948, and the total membership reached an all-time high of 290 members. We are grateful to report the loss by death this past year of four members: Mrs. C. W. Babb, Victor Elmore, William H. Stalker, and Louis E. Wardwell.

Following are some of the highlights of the past year—what you have done in 1948, through your membership in the Camden-Rockport Chamber of Commerce:

Civic Matters

National Affairs Committee, John Wilson, chairman, stimulated interest in national affairs through column, "Now Listen, Senator," in Camden Herald; kept businessmen informed of matters affecting them locally on which action is on the national level; conveyed opinions of local businessmen regarding these issues to their Congressmen.

Camden Hills Park Committee, George Thomas, chairman, furnished factual information for and attended meeting of Governor, Council and State Park Commission, when Camden Hills Park was accepted by State after it was discontinued by the Federal Government.

Clean-up Committee, Percy Luce, chairman, sponsored clean-up drives in Spring and Fall, Special Waterfront Clean-up Committee, Albert Collins, chairman, through the co-operation of many property owners on the Harbor-front made excellent start on long-range clean-up campaign. With the help of the Harbor-Master, fishermen, town crew, a new hoisting gear for bait barrels was installed so that these could be removed from the landing to the boats.

Fire Prevention Committee, Allen F. Payson, Harold Churchill, co-chairmen, carried out effective fire prevention campaign. Won honorable mention in national Fire Prevention Week contest.

Health Committee, Dr. David V. Mann, chairman, initiated survey of water supply system of Camden and Rockport.

Solicitations Committee, William P. Kelley, chairman, protected public from fraudulent solicitations through investigation of out-of-town solicitors; published information about "rackets."

Christmas Committee, Helen Rich, chairman, wrote letters of welcome to new residents; sent Camden-Rockport folders and information.

Education Committee, Maynard Graffman, chairman, endorsed official committees for Camden and Rockport to study and discuss jointly the need and requirements of a new High School Building. Secretary served on committee which procured town markers for Camden-Rockport on new U. S. Route 1.

Industrial

Industry Committee, Gilbert Harmon, chairman, publicized and co-operated with local industries in a variety of ways. Furnished information and service to prospective industries considering location here; worked closely with industrial office; made Development Commission survey of available industrial space.

Handcraft

Secretary assisted in preparing and mailing catalogue for Maine Coast Craftsman; wrote articles publicizing local craftsman and handcraft shows for Yankee magazine and Pine Cone.

Recreational Development

Publicity and Advertising Committee, Duane Doolittle, chairman, made very valuable and exhaustive survey of vacation habits and preferences, and of our promotional folders. This "Roper" type poll was conducted by Mr. Doolittle's class in Marketing at Syracuse University, at no expense to this Chamber, and took many hundreds of hours to complete. It furnished important information to Camden-Rockport businessmen, particularly to those in the recreational field, and to the C. of C., in planning new recreational development and promotional literature. Published and distributed 10,000 directories with pictures, maps and information about Camden and Rockport; 2000 copies of new edition of map of foot and ski trails in the Camden Hills; distributed Camden-Rockport picture folders and Winter sports folders. Advertised in Maine Invites You.

Mountain Trail Committee, John Webber, chairman, cleared and marked new trails and remarked old trails; prepared new edition of trail map and guide.

Snow and Sking Reports, Sonia Allen, observer, were publicized daily in many metropolitan newspapers in the East, and over radio, through December, January and February.

Recreation Council, Hugh Montgomery, chairman, served to coordinate activities of various recreation groups. Secretary secured national publicity for Camden and Rockport in "Time" and other national magazines and newspapers by furnishing news, feature stories, pictures, and by co-operating with writers and photographers. Assisted

DUTCH NECK

Mrs. Arthur Chute and Mrs. Herbert Stahl attended the opening meeting and luncheon Tuesday of the Waldoboro Woman's Club, at which time Mrs. Frederick G. Payne was guest of honor, and Mrs. Agnes Gibbs, well-known radio commentator, was guest speaker.

St. Paul's Society met Wednesday at the Community House and elected as officers: President, Mrs. Merton Benner, vice president, Mrs. Herbert Stahl; secretary, Mrs. Forest Kennedy; treasurer, Mrs. Fred Chute. The men of the society served refreshments. The Society sponsored a baked bean supper Thursday at the Community House. The proceeds were gratifying.

Many from here attended the Fellowship supper last Friday at the Methodist Church, Waldoboro. The district superintendent, C. Wentworth, gave an interesting address.

Fifteen members of the St. Paul's Chapel Society attended the Halloween party given by the church society of West Waldoboro.

Mr. and Mrs. Melville Davis and daughters, Carmen and Elizabeth, have returned home after spending several days' vacation in Montreal, Quebec.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Chute were guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Shored at Sully.

Ralph Stahl and Miss Villa Stahl of Bremen were visitors Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Stahl.

Misses Marilyn and Rita Wooten were week-end guests of relatives in South Waldoboro.

Mrs. Minnie French of Cambridge, Mass., called on old friends here last Friday.

Mrs. Matthew Baron of Portland, Mrs. H. Schofield and Mrs. F. Genthner and daughter Sally of South Waldoboro were callers Thursday at the home of Mrs. Fred Chute.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Chute, Mrs. Fred Chute, Mrs. Addie Wooten, and Ernest Bruns attended the lobster supper Thursday in South Waldoboro.

Alfred Davis of Derby Lines, Vt., spent the week-end at the home of his brother, Melville Davis. He was accompanied home Sunday by his brother, Roy Davis of Stanstead, Quebec, who spent a week at the Davis home.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Crosby are spending several weeks with relatives in Needham, Mass.

with filming of educational movie of the geography of New England for Universal-International Film Company, which used Camden-Lincolnville-Rockport area as its setting. For illustrating stories on Camden-Rockport, a file of pictures is maintained.

Commercial

Merchants Committee, Douglas Kelley, chairman, took pool of merchants in Camden and Rockport in regard to store closings. Christmas lighting, parking meters; arranged calendar of holiday store closings. Secured directional signs for parking areas. Procured streamers and bulbs for municipal Christmas trees in Camden and Rockport. Camden merchants sponsored and paid for 1948 Christmas Tree at Camden, with members of Camden Fire Department donating their time to decorate with lights. Willis Gardner, assisted by members of Rockport Fire Department, erected and arranged lighting of Rockport Christmas Tree.

Traffic sub-committee, Albert Collins, chairman, co-operating with Merchants Committee, sponsored traffic safety controls near Elm Street School on new U. S. Route 1; elimination of dust by surface treatment and lighting of town landing for parking purposes; improvement of "Bay View street bottleneck."

Information Service

Wrote many hundred personal letters in answer to inquiries about industries, handcrafts, real estate, vacation accommodations, Winter sports, and to answer questions on many other subjects.

Information Bureau, Helen McCobb, Counselor, through courtesy of School Board and Superintendent, served as clearing house for information for many seeking employment and for employers, for information about housing, about recreational facilities, points of interest, places to stay, about products of local manufacturers, craftsmen, artists; and was a point of contact for Summer visitors and "built good will" for the towns in a great variety of ways.

RECALLING DAYS OF YORE

Former Camden Man Preserves Interesting History of the Penobscot Valley

By Frank H. Miller

(Chapter XIV)

This chapter is more for the older readers who will say upon looking through the chapter, "I remember him" or "I remember that." First, we will go back to the early bands and orchestras. A few of us can look back to the days when Frank Smiley led the Camden cornet band and how the people enjoyed the concerts given on the grass ground in front of old Megunticook Hall.

Later came the Megunticook band, led by "Clint" Richards. Rockport had a good band for those days, the leader of which was Charles Veazle. The older members of Claremont Commandery, will remember that his band accompanied them to Boston about 1886 to the National Masonic convention. The Commandery stayed the week at the old Richmond Hotel on Tremont street which was located where the Wilbur Theatre stands today.

Anybody who wanted to join a band or in fact, any band that wanted music could go to Albert Smith's music store in Rockland and get either music or an instrument. Albert Smith would have everything a band man could want from a clarinet to a bass drum. Rockland had a band at one time that was under the leadership of Roscoe G. Ingraham. While the writer knew "Ross" Ingraham very well, he is not able to vouch for the name of the conductor, but the band will always be fresh in his memory.

Years ago when the Masonic Commanderies, Palestine of Belfast, Claremont of Rockland, and DeValois of Lincolnville, would get together on St. John's Day, June 24, 1947, Christmas Tree at Camden, Lincolnville-Rockport area as its setting. For illustrating stories on Camden-Rockport, a file of pictures is maintained.

Commercial

Merchants Committee, Douglas Kelley, chairman, took pool of merchants in Camden and Rockport in regard to store closings. Christmas lighting, parking meters; arranged calendar of holiday store closings. Secured directional signs for parking areas. Procured streamers and bulbs for municipal Christmas trees in Camden and Rockport. Camden merchants sponsored and paid for 1948 Christmas Tree at Camden, with members of Camden Fire Department donating their time to decorate with lights. Willis Gardner, assisted by members of Rockport Fire Department, erected and arranged lighting of Rockport Christmas Tree.

Traffic sub-committee, Albert Collins, chairman, co-operating with Merchants Committee, sponsored traffic safety controls near Elm Street School on new U. S. Route 1; elimination of dust by surface treatment and lighting of town landing for parking purposes; improvement of "Bay View street bottleneck."

It was here that the first phonograph was exhibited. Each selection was on a circular disc and the listeners had to put on ear-phones. It was a new thing and attracted many people to the store. them left plenty of nickels behind them.

Albert Collins Heads Camden-Rockport Chamber Of Commerce

Carl Lane, distinguished author, who recently moved to the Camden-Rockport area, in a hilarious talk, "Writers Are Businessmen, Too," at the annual meeting on Wednesday night of the Camden-Rockport Chamber of Commerce, brought forth many laughs from the large group of members and their guests. He described the business side of book-publishing and writing, quoting from correspondence between himself, his literary agent and the publisher, with comments in a facetious tongue-in-cheek vein, in connection with his recent book, "How to Sell." Adding to the gaiety of the meeting was some humorous "ribbing" by Lane of several of the C. of C. members present.

The Chamber of Commerce meeting was opened by Earl Fuller, president for the past year, who introduced the new president, Albert Collins, proprietor of the Watkins Cleaners establishments in Camden, Belfast and Rockland. Collins presented the other newly elected officers: 1st vice president, Vernon Packard; 2d vice president, Maynard Graham; treasurer, Alexander Gilmore; secretary, Betty Foxwell.

Mr. Collins gave to the retiring president a scroll with the following inscription:

"The Camden-Rockport Chamber of Commerce acknowledges with grateful appreciation the faithful service and outstanding contribution to the development of Camden and Rockport of Earl Fuller, as president during the year 1948."

Scrolls of appreciation were also presented to the four retiring directors: Claude Butterfield, William P. Kelley, Oliver Mayhew, of Camden, and Arthur Walker of Rockport. The new members of the board of directors are Vere Crockett, Camden and Rockville, Allison Curry, Robert Laite, Merton Lake, Camden, and Carleton Underwood, Rockport.

The program was opened with assembly singing, directed by David Crockett, with Edward Grieve at the piano.

Additional highlights of the meeting were the presentation of two dozen roses to Secretary Betty Foxwell by President Collins, on behalf of the directors and members of the meeting's committee; and a gift to the secretary by the chairman of the program committee, William P. Kelley, of a bright blue "chamber" for the new C. of C. office, recently reported in the news under the heading, "Chamber Gets a Chamber." Other members of the program committee were Charles Lowe and Albert Rhodes.

Following the meeting the members enjoyed a social hour and refreshments as guests of the new board of directors, Mrs. Albert Collins and Mrs. Vernon Packard presided at the coffee table. Ladies of St. Thomas Guild served the refreshments.

CAPITOL STUFF

By Governor Hogue Hildreth

Augusta, Nov. 1.—I have just received from the Law and Law Enforcement Committee of the Governor's Conference on Fire Prevention and Control a very important report which is the culmination of many months of hard, though voluntary, work since Maine's forest fire emergency. This committee has prepared a bill whose purpose is to protect the public safety not only against potential and actual fire emergency, but from all other forms of disaster or catastrophe in the future.

This committee had as its purpose the codifying and analyzing of the reports and recommendations of the committees on Rural Fire Prevention, Building Construction and Protection, Fire Prevention Education, Firemen's Training, Forest Fire, Municipal Fire Protection, Disaster Relief and Control and Organized Public Support, and to draft such legislation as would most effectively carry out the objectives of the Conference.

Many meetings have been held since last January. The committee agreed that it was beyond its scope to attempt to incorporate all reports and recommendations into legislative proposals despite their inestimable practical value. The group thus set out in its report that while the legislation it proposes deals only with a small part of the fire prevention program, it will adequately provide for meeting any such catastrophe as the State experienced in 1947.

The complete legislative program, the committee indicates, should be the undertaking of the Legislative Research Committee, particularly as it affects revision of various existing laws.

The Law and Law Enforcement Committee's bill provides for the establishment of a Department of Public Safety, with a Commissioner, a Public Safety Council, and with special powers to deal with all public perils, common disasters and catastrophes. It also sets up a municipal aid fire account, with an annual appropriation of $250,000 to the State for reimbursement to towns and cities for money expended for fire-fighting equipment.

This bill does not attempt to cover all of the ground which must be covered. The Forestry Department has an applicable bill and there will be several others. All will need thorough consideration and public debate before passage. The bill in its totality will represent a very comprehensive coverage of public safety and emergency procedures. A great deal of work in this direction has been done since last year's fire disaster. The bills cover a controversial subject, but they are deserving of debate and very serious consideration.

The Law and Law Enforcement group proposes that a Department of Public Safety be headed by a Commissioner of Public Safety, appointed by the Governor. Serving a term of four years, he would be supported by a public safety council composed of the commissioner, ex officio as chairman, the chief of the State Police, the director of health, the adjutant general, the insurance commissioner, the forest commissioner, the president of the Maine fire chiefs' association, president of the Maine sheriffs' association, and a field representative of the American Red Cross.

The Commissioner would have general supervision over the safety of all persons and property in the State and would be required to provide a program looking toward the protection of life and property against the careless practices of humans. He would administer the laws on public safety as set forth in the bill. He would also make rules and regulations to be approved by the Governor and Council.

Provision is made for a continuing survey of the municipalities and unorganized territory of the State for the preparation of disaster and catastrophe plans, and to carry out other specified precautionary functions.

The Municipal Aid Fire Account, a continuing fund, carrying account would be used to reimburse towns and cities, in part, for the approved purchase of fire equipment. This grant could in no case exceed 50 percent of the actual cost of equipment. No town or city would receive more than $10,000 for expenditures in any calendar year.

Provision is also made for the compensation of firemen injured while responding to out-of-town emergency calls under the provisions of the bill.

George B. Wood Tells Rotary Club Of His Trip To South America

George B. Wood of Rockland was guest speaker at the weekly luncheon Tuesday of the Rotary Club at Central Church parish house. Mr. Wood was a delegate from Maine to the International Rotary Convention at Rio de Janeiro last May and gave a very interesting talk upon the fine program of the convention and entertainment at the various large cities in South America which they visited.

The delegates including many of the Rotary officers in this country and other nations sailed on the luxury liner Uruguay of the Moore-McCormick Lines from New York on May 5.

Meetings for discussion of various subjects were held daily with plenty of entertainment evenings. When the equator was reached Father Neptune appeared with a large retinue of officers and held court while the young members of the party were initiated in the swimming pool. Diplomas were given to everyone with all the rites and ceremonies of past centuries.

Rio de Janeiro was reached on May 16 and the whole city was decorated in their honor with many receptions and parties. The weather was hot and muggy. But the harbor with its famous Sugar Loaf mountains was full of interest. Rio de Janeiro is the capital of Brazil and much like Washington with beautiful buildings, hotels and stores.

The big federal building which was the headquarters for the department of Education was turned over to the Rotarians for its headquarters, known as all Rotary conventions as the House of Friendship. Here the business sessions of Rotary International were held and gifts and exhibitions arranged, showing the different products of this rich country.

The next port of call was Santos where they boarded a special train for Sao Paulo. They found Sao Paulo the big coffee center high up in the mountains, which they visited by special train, cool and invigorating.

The next port visited was Buenos Aires in Argentina, a city of 4,000,000 people. They were given the keys to the city and everything possible was done to make their stay pleasant and memorable. In each of the South American cities the Jockey clubs were open to them and Saturdays and Sundays were devoted to horse racing by some of the finest horses in the world. In Brazil the native speech was Portuguese and in Argentina and most other cities Spanish.

The Rotarians were particularly impressed with Montevideo in Uruguay with its fine government and culture.

The slogan of all the meetings was world peace and there was much discussion as to the best means of piercing a hole in the iron curtain of Russia.

New Jobs Open

Maine National Guard Is In Want Of Administrative Assistants

New and very desirable jobs with the Maine National Guard will soon be available according to information received from Washington, by Brig. Gen. Carter, the Adjutant General of Maine.

Major General Kenneth F. Cramer, chief of the National Guard Bureau, has notified General Carter that he has approved a request to appoint administrative assistants on a full-time basis for 40 units of the Maine National Guard. These men will receive pay approximately to that of a sergeant first class of the Regular Army.

These administrative assistants will be under the direct supervision of the unit commander and will be responsible during field training periods to the commander for the administration of the unit. Among the duties the administrative assistants will perform are the preparation of payrolls, training schedules and the like.

Brig. Gen. Carter has issued a directive to all units authorized administrative personnel who may desire to be interviewed. He has also appointed a board of officers consisting of Col. John F. Choate, Col. Elliot C. Goodwin and Col. John W. Healy to interview candidates and to submit recommendations. This board will conduct interviews at Augusta, Portland, Saco, Lewiston, Brunswick, Bangor and Presque Isle beginning about Nov. 15.

To be eligible for appointment all personnel must be members of the Maine National Guard at the time of the interview.

Good Boys, Those

Island Youngsters Behaved Much Better Than Their Brothers On Mainland

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—We hear a great deal these days to the effect that our young people are going to the dogs and have no respect for anyone or anything. The Halloween celebration which I have witnessed this year give cause for a more optimistic view.

A group of boys in their early teens went into the home of an elderly couple Saturday evening with the usual cry of "Tricks or treat." The woman explained she had nothing with which to treat. The boys left that home without carrying out the threat of tricks out of respect for the age of those people.

Sunday night the same group of boys were in the vicinity of a church a short time before the evening service was to start. One was heard to suggest going in to have a little fun. Another quickly said they couldn't do that. Later those same boys gathered on the church steps at the close of the service while one of their number went in and gave the pastor a donation of 50 cents from "the boys."

These boys will undoubtedly recognize themselves in the story and I and others in this vicinity would like to take the opportunity to thank them for their good manners and let others know that there are still some young people with good in them.

Charles G. Erickson

Charles G. Erickson died Oct. 27 at his home here. He was born in Worcester, Mass., and came to this town in 1904. By trade he was a painter. He was married to Nancy Calderwood and had resided here ever since.

Mr. Erickson was a good neighbor, ready to help whenever needed, a kind husband and father and a devoted family man. He was a member of the Lutheran Church in Worcester, Mass.

His widow survives, also a son, Carl Erickson; a daughter, Evelyn Kenniston; a daughter by a former marriage, Mrs. Gertrude Halberg of Auburn, Mass.; a sister, Mrs. Hilda Sjoberg; three brothers, Edward and Herbert of Worcester, and George of New Hampshire, also several grandchildren.

Services were held from the residence.

First Baptist Sunday School Joins Nation-Wide Attendance Race

The First Baptist Church School of this city has entered the nationwide contest for Church School attendance, sponsored by "Christian Life" magazine over six Sundays, Oct. 31 through Dec. 5. The purpose of the contest is to focus attention upon the Sunday school as the chief evangelistic arm of the church.

Awards will be given to schools in three categories: those with attendance under 100; attendance between 100 and 300, and those with attendance over 300. Scoring will be based on a combination percentage increase over the preceding year and the amount of effort and ingenuity involved during the period of the contest.

The local school is in the second category and will be seeking to increase next Sunday's attendance over that of a year ago, which was 226. Efforts will be put forth by letters, visitation and publicity to greatly increase the attendance of each Sunday over that of a year ago.

Splendid awards, totaling over $1000, will be given to the successful schools. These awards are such as will prove helpful in the work of the school. The local school will present awards to the department making the greatest gain as well as to the individual bringing in the largest number of people.

The Church School hour is at noon, and all who are not connected with other schools are invited to help us bring the victory to Rockland.

Rev. M. E. Barter Traces His Ancestry Back To Knox County

Parkburg, Pa., Nov. 4. Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—Rev. M. E. Barter, who has served as pastor of the Parkburg Baptist Church, Parkburg, Pa., for the past six years, has resigned his pastorate to accept a call from the Wildwood Crest Community Church of Wildwood, N. J.

Rev. Mr. Barter is the son of Fred W. Barter of East Weymouth and grandson of the late Capt. Joel Barter of Glenmere, Maine, and of the late Ezra Sidelinger of Thomaston. Rev. Mr. Barter formerly served as a missionary in the Belgian Congo, West Africa, and also several pastorate in Vermont prior to going to Pennsylvania.

As copies of your paper come to me from the folks at home in Massachusetts, I read with interest because of the many family roots that are in the Maine soil in Knox County on the Barter and Sidelinger branches of our family tree.

Girl Scout Week

The Local Organization Is Anxious To Recruit Adult Volunteers

Alice Sanderson, community advisor from the National Staff of Girl Scouts, spent two days recently with our Rockland Girl Scout Organization—giving very satisfactory help to all who attended the various sessions. There was a Round Table the first session for Council Members and Leaders; an open meeting in the evening for all adult workers in the organization, and also open to the public.

Miss Sanderson explained the "Association" type of Council which is replacing many of the "Traditional" types—such as Rockland has. This will be discussed fully at the December meeting of the Rockland Council, at which time the Leaders will meet with the Council. Miss Sanderson mentioned children and young people like to feel they "belong" to something—therefore the formal opening or closing to their Troop meetings is helpful.

She agreed with some leader who said she always aimed to have "Fun" and "Achieve" something at each Troop meeting. However, if occasionally it seemed impossible to "achieve" something she believed they should "Have Fun" anyway so the girls would come back next time for "more fun" and "achievement." She stressed "Democratic Planning" and "Knowing Your Community" as being more important than ever.

Following the evening meeting a social hour and refreshments were provided by the Council for all, with Deputy Commissioner Ruth Pendleton Chairman of Arrangements assisted by Commissioner Mildred Crie, Mrs. Helen Bray, Mrs. Mabel Bowley, and Mrs. Leona Whitehill.

Thirty-two feature motion pictures and 11 topical were produced in Bengal, India, in the last year.

Answers A Critic

Kenneth Roberts, Novelist, Takes Issue With Briton Who Slammed Maine

Kenneth Roberts, an expert on United States history and a loyal son of Maine, takes issue with British Historian Arnold J. Toynbee over the latter's low estimate of Maine as expressed in Toynbee's book, "A Study of History."

"Toynbee's utterances about Maine are so grossly ludicrous that I doubt everything that Toynbee has written," Roberts declares in Don't Say That About Maine! in the current Saturday Evening Post. "If he's so wrong about Maine, he's probably equally wrong about the Primitive Muslim Arabs, the conquests of the Euthymic Bactrian Greek princes, the creative role of Russia in the Great Society, and all the other subjects about which he writes so dully. I wouldn't trust him to write correctly about anything."

The Maine author's anger was stirred by the English professor's reference to Maine as "unimportant," and (1) survives today as a kind of museum piece—a relic of seventeenth century New England inhabited by woodmen and watermen and hunters." Roberts also points out that Toynbee fails to even mention Vermont as one of the New England States.

"Maine is not sophisticated—nor does it wish to be," Roberts says. "Probably it's difficult for such a sophisticated as Toynbee to understand how the inhabitants of states like Maine and Vermont can deliberately court unimportance; how so many of them can be kind, generous, humorous, thoughtful, reserved, sensible, sociable, hard-working, independent and bitterly intolerant of sham, waste, graft, loose thinking, loose living, bad government and historians who never heard of Vermont."

"As Toynbee points out, nothing in Maine is important, but all her woodmen, watermen and hunter residents think highly of Bowdoin College and her woodmen-watermen graduates, Nathaniel Hawthorne, Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, Robert P. T. Coffin, Thomas Brackett Reed, Admiral Robert Peary, Donald MacMillan, President Franklin Pierce, Chief Justice Melville Fuller, Supreme Court Justice Harold Burton and innumerable others."

"Many historians who are acclaimed as historians are miserable historians, just as many supposedly great leaders are wretched leaders, many reputedly great architects are beneath contempt, and so on..." As far as Maine is concerned, Toynbee's Study of History goes to the attic to join Parson Weems' Life of George Washington."
